Dear Friends,

I am once again overwhelmed by your generosity and commitment to Outreach’s mission to help individuals and families struggling with addiction build healthy lives. The impact of your participation in today’s event – our 43rd Annual Metropolitan Luncheon – cannot be overstated. The opioid epidemic continues to devastate communities across our city, state, and country, with over 107,000 precious lives lost to overdose in the United States in 2023 alone. Your support enables Outreach to provide safe, comprehensive, and high-quality treatment programs and services to anyone in need, regardless of their age, race, gender or economic status. Thank you for making a difference in the lives of all the people we serve.

I also want to extend my heartfelt gratitude to our outstanding 2024 honorees – Gerry Chasin, Joseph A. Geiger, and Drew O’Connor – for their involvement and unwavering support of today’s event. Additionally, I thank our wonderful Luncheon Committee, led by Board Chair Dan Kindbergh, for their tireless work in ensuring the success of this event.

Addiction does not discriminate – it touches everyone. At Outreach, we are committed to ensuring that our programs serve anyone in need, especially those who are often marginalized or forgotten. Today, you will hear about one such important program: our specialized services for those who have bravely served this country, our veterans.

Currently, 580,000 former service members live in New York State. They face unique challenges, many of which can only be fully understood by others who have served. Tragically, veterans have a higher incidence of substance use and are twice as likely to die by suicide compared to the general public. As you will hear today, Outreach’s specialized track of services for veterans addresses their specific needs and are led by staff who themselves are veterans. This is just one of the many lifesaving programs your support helps to make possible, including but not limited to the following new initiatives:

- Establishing a Certified Community Behavioral Health Clinic (CCBHC) that offers integrated medical and behavioral health care services all in one location for the very diverse community in Western Queens.
- The opening of our new Young Adults Residence, which provides specialized care for young people ages 18-25, helping them continue their recovery journey into adulthood.
- A new Street Outreach Program in Nassau and Suffolk Counties, which connects with Long Island’s most marginalized populations by bringing services and support directly to them.

On behalf of everyone at Outreach, I thank you for your ongoing partnership, which makes it possible for us to make a difference in the lives of all New Yorkers. My best wishes to you and yours for a safe, healthy, and happy holiday season.

Sincerely,

Debra Pantin

Joseph A. Geiger
Executive Secretary-Treasurer
New York City District Council of Carpenters

Joseph A. Geiger is the Executive Secretary-Treasurer (EST) of the New York City and Vicinity District Council of Carpenters. For over 40 years, Joe has lived by the values of the Union. Since 2013 when he was elected EST, Joe has made it his calling to safeguard the livelihood of the District Council's 20,000 skilled union carpenters who represent nine local unions covering a wide range of trade specialties. He leads contract negotiations, policy decisions and the overall direction of the union to guarantee that every member has rights in the workplace, a good job, a fair wage, a healthy life, and a secure future.

Born in Brooklyn and raised in Ridgewood, Joe joined Timberman Local Union 1536 on July 4, 1984, at the age of 17, where he started his career as a timberman helper. Showing leadership in the field, Joe worked his way up to Journeyman, Shop Steward, Foreman, and finally to General Foreman. This ambition translated into getting involved in leadership roles with his Local Union, where he began to exercise his voice in union activity. He became highly involved in Local 1536, where he held positions as Treasurer, President, Delegate, and serving on the Trial Committee. After their merger into Dockbuilders/Timbermen Local Union 1556, Joe served as President and Delegate to the District Council.

In 2005, Joe was hired as a Business Representative at the District Council, during which time he continued to serve as a Trustee. In December 2013, Joe was elected to the Office of Executive Secretary-Treasurer, and he was reelected after running unopposed in December 2014. He won reelection in 2017. In 2021, after four years of leadership, which included successfully navigating the union and its members through the global COVID pandemic and spearheading Carpenters RISE – a multi-year power building union campaign, Joe was once again elected by the union's membership to lead the District Council for another four years.

As EST, Joe strives to better the lives of his fellow brothers and sisters through his roles as a co-chairman on the New York City District Council of Carpenters Benefit Funds, and as co-director of the New York City and Vicinity Carpenters Labor Management Corporation. He has made the list of New York City's construction leaders in City & State and Labor Press and other outlets for his leadership in the construction industry. In 2019, Joe was honored with the Dr. Thomas J. Mackell Jr. Distinguished Labor Service Award, and he received the Labor Leader of the Year Award for 2018 from the Subcontractor's Trade Association. Joe received the Francis J.P. McHale Memorial Award in 2016 and was named Union Leader of the Year by the Wall & Ceiling Association in 2015. He has also worked with charities including Jared Allen's Home for Wounded Warriors and the New York City Council of Boy Scouts of America.

Joe is married to his wife, Debbie, and they have four children: Frank, Joseph Jr., Robert, and Brittany, and four grandchildren: Frank Jr., Joseph III, Mikayla Rose, and Hannah, with another on the way!

Dear Friends:

I am pleased to welcome you to Outreach's 43rd annual Metropolitan Luncheon. As both the Board and Luncheon Chair, your ongoing generosity and commitment to Outreach's mission to help build healthy lives continues to amaze and deeply move me. I am especially grateful to my fellow members of the Luncheon Committee for their unwavering help and support, and to our three outstanding 2024 Honorees – Gerry Chasin, Joseph A. Geiger, and Drew O'Connor.

During today's Luncheon we are spotlighting one of Outreach's many lifesaving specialty programs that is helping to build healthy lives for veterans who have proudly and bravely served our country. One out of every ten former service members struggle with substance use and are impacted by several co-occurring issues such as pain, suicide risk, and trauma. Outreach's work with this population is deeply personal to a lot of us here today because many veterans work alongside us in union jobs, in both the private and public sectors.

I am reminded of the popular union slogans from back in the day that said, "An injury to one is an injury to all," "United in strength, together for a better future," and "In Unity, we find strength," which demonstrate the commitment union members have for one another, their strength united, and their shared pledge to build a better future. Your generosity ensures Outreach can help to fulfill these promises by providing essential behavioral health care to anyone who needs it, including veterans, union and trade members, teens, adults, and people struggling with co-occurring mental health disorders. Your participation here today also reaffirms the importance of Outreach and its mission to transform lives, rebuild families, and strengthen communities.

On behalf of all of us at Outreach, the Board of Directors, staff, and clients, please accept my heartfelt thanks for being a member of our community. We wish you and your family a happy and healthy holiday season. As we move forward into the new year, I urge you to continue to stay involved. Share with others what you have seen, heard, and learned here today, and offer support and information to those in need. Because, in unity we indeed find strength.

Thank you for your support.

Sincerely,
Daniel Kindbergh

About Us

Since 1980, Outreach has proudly served the Greater New York area with life-changing treatment to help individuals and family members struggling with challenges stemming from drug and alcohol use. Take the next steps to rebuild your life by reaching out today.

Leave No Man or Woman Behind: Outreach's Commitment to Serving Veterans

"Leave no man or woman behind."

Variations of this quote are found in the Soldier's Creed for all branches of service and imbedded in our programs and services for veterans here at Outreach. We are committed to ensuring that every veteran who comes through our doors knows that we are here to support them through their recovery journey and transition back to civilian life.

Men and women who have served this country and are in need of drug and alcohol treatment deserve a specialized treatment approach that is uniquely designed for them. Their experiences, communication styles, and distinctive set of traumas, call for counselors who can speak their language. At Outreach, our dedicated staff of treatment professionals include those who are veterans themselves. Their shared experience lends credibility for veterans, and helps them feel comfortable in their treatment environment, and therefore increases the likelihood that they will complete their treatment program.

As a behavioral health provider, Outreach is committed to using the latest evidence-based practices in our services for veterans, including Seeking Safety which focuses on PTSD, Strength of the Struggle, Trauma-Informed Care and more. Our Outpatient program for veterans offers both individual and group therapy sessions, as well as case management and vocational services, where we address drug use, co-occurring issues, and life skills deficits. The focus is not just on past traumas but also on grounding and identifying coping skills on how to heal from those traumas.

Our Outpatient program houses a veterans' lounge which provides a quiet and supervised retreat where veterans can search for jobs, and socialize and connect with other veterans. Most of the group sessions for veterans are held in the veterans' lounge, and discussions range from relapse prevention, to mindfulness, to emotional regulation, grief and loss, and creative arts therapy.

Outreach recently welcomed a new fulltime Veterans' Counselor, Danielle "Dani" Koulermos, to help facilitate groups and administer art therapy. According to our Outpatient Services Director Thomas Olivo, "We felt Dani was our missing link. We are thrilled to have her onboard and deepen the work with our clients who are veterans."

Dani Koulermos shared that oftentimes after discussing their feelings and past trauma in groups many veterans find it hard to identify the language to explain why they feel a certain way. Art offers a way to express something that has happened to them or is happening in the moment, without having to use words and share too much about their past. "Clinical art therapy is a growing modality within the mental health umbrella which services allow people to create rather than speak," says Koulermos. "Art can be anonymous so whether the barrier is shame, confusion, memory loss or just lack of words to describe what we have lived through. Art making allows the vessel to process trauma with a clinician in a safe space without using triggering details of storytelling." Art therapists who practice trauma informed care can help direct veterans suffering from PTSD graduate to post traumatic growth by using psychoeducation to help teach and learn about their emotional triggers, creating their own personal narrative, and encouraging acceptance by being open and honest about their recovery. Art therapy is very versatile because you can choose so many different mediums like music in song writing, passages from books, motivational speeches on audiobooks as well as the traditional tools like drawing, painting, and sculpture. Utilizing art therapy, the clients have the autonomy to choose what they would like to use and what they feel comfortable exploring. For our clients at Outreach, and veterans alike, choice is something that they have not always had throughout their lives, whether it be in the military following orders, being incarcerated, or addicted to substances itself. So having the choice over which medium to use or what they design is paramount in their recovery to make good decisions and trying new things."

Veterans can also take part in Outreach's new 16-bed intensive residential treatment program which is centered around the evidence-based Rehabilitation to Care practice. The program, which lasts approximately 28 days (though the length of stay is ultimately based on the individual's needs) offers the skills necessary to establish sobriety. Upon completion of the program, veterans are referred to the next appropriate level of care, either residential living or outpatient treatment. All options are explored, discussed, and determined in collaboration with the client to ensure that they are fully engaged in the continuation of their recovery. Clients also have access to veteran support groups and community resources through Outreach. These services include referrals to agencies that can help them overturn an dishonorable discharge status in order to be eligible for military benefits.
